SENATOR REED WILL FIGHT KELLOGG WAR TREATY IS REPORT

Claims Plan Would Lead Nation Into World Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The preliminary organization work finally done, congress and its committees began to function today on all clyinders.

The outstanding feature on the senate side was the scheduled appearance of Secretary of State Kellogg before the foreign relations committee to explain his treaty, signed by fifty-nine nations, renouncing war. The secretary was to face a mixed gathering of friends and belligerents, some of whom desired to question him about protections offered the Monroe doctrine by the treaty.

The force of Kellogg's argument may determine whether Senator able to rally a strong fighting force to protest its ratisfication. Reed claims the treaty would lead the United States into the world court by the rear entrance and he has half a dozen other senators whose sentiments along these lines will have to be altered if the treaty is to be speedily ratified.

Another bloc was being organzed among senators to contest confirmation of Roy O. West, prominent Republican leader of Chicago," as President Coolidge's choice for secretary of interior. Reduce Crank Case Dilution Ideal Winter Gasolines

At No Increase in Price!

VEN the most modern of motor refine I ments can't function perfectly with oil diluted with gasoline. A crankcase ventilator takes care of some of the trouble, but not all of it.

The use of the choke inevitably means raw gasoline drawn down past piston rings into the oil chamber. This may be happily avoided by the use of Loreco 88. It begins to ignite at a temperature far below that at which ordinary gasoline ignites. Change today to Loreco 88 and stop excessive use of the choke.

And in Loreco 88 Ethyl you have all these advantages with the additional feature of perfect anti-knock qualities.

evils of constipation. By serving Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—that healthful cereal—in some form every day, constipation is safely relieved and prevented.

It takes "all-bran" to be 100% effective

It is bulk or roughage that combats constipation. ALL-BRAN is practically all-bulk because it is 100 per cent bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the digestive system. At the same time, it gently distends the intestines. Exercising them-sweeping out poisonous wastes.

Part-bran products seldom contain a sufficient quantity of bulk to be completely effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

BOY SCOUTS BLAZING TRAILS

In addition to blazing trails for other boys in the world of achievement, the Boy Scouts of Eagle rank are blazing trails plotting a secret welding to a lad through the beauties of western wilds.

The work that Eagle Scouts have done in trail-building in to Nancy Hoyt and Elinor Wylie. the national parks for several seasons was praised in a recent Tia Juana dance emporiums for statement by the Department of the Interior. "Eagle Scout thrown coins refer to their racket Trails" now exist in Glacier, Yellowstone, and Mount Rainier National Parks, it was stated.

The work accomplished last year in Glacier Park is typical. Anna May Dennehy of "3 Cheers" and Frank Dunn are the government statement said. A band of 39 Eagle Scouts from widely separated geographical localities including Penn- other performance, ... Florence sylvania, New York, and Massachusetts as well as most of the Hirschfield, who writes about northwestern and several middle western States, reported in day pages, was once an Earl Carthe park in August and spent two weeks in construction of a roll primary trail for heavy horse travel. The work was done under the supervision of a Government of trail foreman. The Scouts constructed about 300 feet more trail than the park engineers expected would be accomplished try tiffed with him, so now he is in the allotted time.

The only cost to the Government for the work was subsistence of the boys and the furnishing of transportation, tools, and tentage. The Scouts donated their services.

After finishing their work in Glacier Park the Scouts visited the neighboring Blackfeet Reservation where two members of the party, one of the leaders and a scout elected by the boys on the same three-stacker ... themselves, were adopted into the Blackfeet Tribe.

This work provides experience of great value to the boys Survivor Slaughter's succor all and these trails will be lasting monuments to their achievement.

GRATITUDE

The wise old Dr. Samuel Johnson once said: "Gratitude is a fruit of great cultivation. You do not find it among gross people." Observations will convince you that this is true, at least in some degree. Cheap or coarse people are usually lacking in a sense of gratitude. They are likely to be the sorts who carry chips on their shoulders, brag that the world owes them a living, boast of accomplishments for which they are not responsible. Lacking a sense of appreciation of most good things, they naturally lack a sense of appreciation of what tell it to a Parisian judge....A others have done for them.

MOTIVES

How often are we in earnest, how often are we perfectly sincerc when we think we have adopted a course of action because we want to do something nice for somebody? How often do we adopt a course of action which we tell ourselves is the best, when we are really adopting it because it is the easiest way out or because by so doing we will get the satisfaction of revenge or the momentary satisfaction former is exploiting the latter's of any other selfish achievement? To be really devoid of selfish in- tendency to obesity. terest and to make a serene and patient effort to do what we really think is best for another person—this is high achievement.

NOT TOO LATE

At four o'clock in the afternoon of a certain June day the battle of Marengo was apparently lost to the French. Napoleon knew enough about the science of war to believe that he was up against defeat. It is reported that General Desaix said: "The battle is lost but there is time to gain another."

In that sentence, perhaps, we read the answer to the record of a time chipping in money to buy so-called dsetul girls that weren't pearance—and is there one of the editor a watch, upon which tark conclusion.

Napoleon Bonaparte can hardly be held up as an example to emulate. He left the world little better than he found it-no better from a military standpoint. But he did possess the secret of transforming energy into quick results. The life of Napoleon should be an inspiration for the lazy—if anything can inspire the lazy.

BOY SCOUTS BLAZING TRAILS

In addition to blazing trails for other boys in the world of achievement, the Boy Scouts of Eagle rank are blazing trails through the beauties of western wilds.

The work that Eagle Scouts have done in trail-building in to Nancy Hoyt and Elinor Wylie the national parks for several seasons was praised in a recent Tia Juana dance emporiums for statement by the Department of the Interior. "Eagle Scout thrown coins refer to their racket Trails" now exist in Glacier, Yellowstone, and Mount Rainier National Parks, it was stated.

The work accomplished last year in Glacier Park is typical, the government statement said. A band of 39 Eagle Scouts from widely separated geographical localities including Penn- other sylvania, New York, and Massachusetts as well as most of the northwestern and several middle western States, reported, in the park in August and spent two weeks in construction of a primary trail for heavy horse travel. In all a total of 3,600 feet | biog. ... There are no fewer than of trail was built.

The work was done under the supervision of a Government of "The Bat"... The nevview trail foreman. The Scouts constructed about 300 feet more trail than the park engineers expected would be accomplished try tiffed with him, so now he is in the allotted time.

The only cost to the Government for the work was subsistence of the boys and the furnishing of transportation, tools, and tentage. The Scouts donated their services.

After finishing their work in Glacier Park the Scouts visited the neighboring Blackfeet Reservation where two members of the party, one of the leaders and a scout elected by the boys on the same three-stacker ... themselves, were adopted into the Blackfeet Tribe.

This work provides experience of great value to the boys Survivor Slaughter's succor all and these trails will be lasting monuments to their achievement.

The Way of the World By GROVE PATTERSON

The wise old Dr. Samuel Johnson once said: "Gratitude is a fruit of great cultivation. You do not find it among gross people." Observations will convince you that this is true, at least in some degree. Cheap or coarse people are usually lacking in a sense of gratitude. They are likely to be the sorts who carry chips on their shoulders. brag that the world owes them a living, boast of accomplishments for which they are not responsible. Lacking a sense of appreciation of most good things, they naturally lack a sense of appreciation of what tell it to a Parisian judge....A distance out of their way to showing others have done for them.

How often are we in earnest, how often are we perfectly sincerc when we think we have adopted a course of action because we want to do something nice for somebody? How often do we adopt a course of action which we tell ourselves is the best, when we are really adopting it because it is the easiest way out or because by so doing we will get the satisfaction of revenge or the momentary satisfaction of any other selfish achievement? To be really devoid of selfish in- tendency to obesity, terest and to make a serene and patient effort to do what we really think is best for another person—this is high achievement.

n n s NOT TOO LATE

At four o'clock in the afternoon of a certain June day the battle of Marengo was apparently lost to the French. Napoleon knew enough about the science of war to believe that he was up against defeat. It is reported that General Desaix said: "The battle is lost dismissed. The staff rejoiced luxuries, as so many mothers are, but there is time to gain another."

In that sentence, perhaps, we read the answer to the record of a the editor a watch, upon which really useful at all. And as the pearance—and is there one of Friendship is one of the gospel's rarest fruits. In apostolic Christianity every church was pre-eminently an association of friends; a brotherhood; in which brother meant friend. This letter to Philemon is the gem among Paul's epistles.

V. 8. "Wherefore...I enjoin thee that which is befitting," Philemon must do that which fits Philemon; Paul can't.

V. 9 .- "Yet for love's sake, I rather beseech, being such a one as Paul the aged, and now a prisoner of Jesus Christ." By nature Perhaps Paul was sixty-five; labor and suffering made him old. Paul was in a position to command the master of Onesimus: but he would not; he would rather Philemon choose willingly the course that opened before him as a Christian.

V. 10. "I beseech thee for my child, my very heart." Onesimus, the run-away slave of Philemon, had been converted through Pau! and so became his spiritual child. Here is a striking illustration of the power of the gospel to obliterate all superficial distinctions and

This little letter put a charge of dyamite under the institution of slavery which helped to blow it out of the world; it diffused through the atmosphere of civilization a spirit of humanity and brotherhood which in the course of the Christian centuries dissolved the fetters of slavery. The hand of Paul in penning this brief letter helped to write along with the hand af Abraham Lincoln, the American Emancipation Proclamation.

A business man advertised for an office boy to assist him and nearly fifty boys applied. "I should like to know," said a friend, "on what ground you selected the boy, who

IT'S RAINING DOLLARS!

One hundred and twenty-two thousand dollars are loose in Xenia.

Into the laps of this one and that one, checks are falling.

They are the rewards of Christmas Saving Clubs, gleaned from weekly pay envelopes and deposited bit by bit in savings institutions until the whole has accumulated into a sizable fortune.

Such is the lesson taught by thrift—that through the virtue of being constantly vigilant in saving small amounts, eventually the sum shall grow into impressive accounts. And as this one and that one adds to the total, the whole, at Christmas time, assumes amazing proportions.

And so now the whole sum falls into the laps of Xenians, swelling the pockets of some, puffing out the lean sides of depleted pocketbooks and replenishing family bank accounts and savings institution balances.

And this one, taking his money, will say: "Here is the goal of my accomplishment. In this sum are represented gifts that will gladden the hearts of dad and mother. Here there is sufficient for gifts that will please brother and sister. The kiddies will benefit because I have been true to my decision to save and after all, what might have been a dreary Christmas, will be a bright one, with loved ones surrounded with gifts."

And that one, seeing the size of his Christmas check, will say: "And this money does not come out of my pocket. Having been spread carefully over the Christmas - tide needs, there yet remains money in my pocket and no bills. And having spent wisely, perhaps there will still be sufficient to apply to other savings."

And then the Christmas Club money, rejoicing at being freed from dark vaults, will set out to spread joy in a world sadly in need of joy. And here some of it will be left in a store so that Billy will have his skates. And there some will be spent in such a way that Mary will have warm clothing. And in other stores even more will be spent to the end that Christmas will be a happy one. But even then there will still be money left so that those to whom the receiving of gifts has lost its appeal, will receive the money themselves that they may expend it in a manner suiting themselves.

But even in more ways does the Christmas money spread joy in the world. For that spent in this store, helps pay the salaries of employes and in that store it is passed along again to still another store. So that in the end the Christmas money makes many little journeys, passing from this one's hand to that one, leaving a little bit of cheer here, a little joy there.

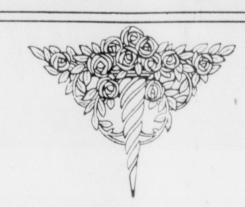

And in the end all of the stores benefit, and benefitting, the city also comes into its advantage. Here one hundred and twenty-two thousand dollars represent one hundred and twenty-two thousand messengers.

And in bringing joy, happiness and prosperity at the Christmas-tide, they replenish the coffers of merchants, and thus contribute to the general prosperity of all in the city.

Here is a noble thought—that Xenia benefits from the Christmas dollars, even as you and I.

FINED TWICE AFTER PLEADING GUILTY TO LIQUOR CHARGE

Fines aggregating $500 and costs were imposed by Mayor John W. Prugh Thursday upon Charles Mowen, 54, at whose home police confiscated a 100-gallon capacity still in a raid Wednesday after-

Mowen was fined $300 and costs for possessing apparatus designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor and $200 and costs for pos sessing liquor.

He pleaded guilty to both charges, although denying ownership of the still. Mowen, when arrested later on the street, charged the liquor-making outfit was placed if a rear room at his home by two colored men to whom he had rented the room but whose names he did not know.

Police said the house was vacant when the raid was made and that the still, the most complete equipment ever confiscated in Greene County, was not in operation. Raid ing officers entered through a rear

Police learned that Mowen rented the house in which he lived from William Smith about a month ago and not from a Mrs. Thomas, colored, who lives nearby. The house is located at 432 E.
